

High in Plain Sight...

New, Current and Ongoing Trends in Drug, Violence and Alcohol Abuse

Moscow, Idaho (Fairfield Inn, Moscow)

This class will break down the new party, synthetic, technology, violence and concealment trends in today's ever evolving world of substance abuse. The changes are occurring all across the nation and in our backyard -- we really have to stay updated on what is out there! Idaho & Washington trends are changing just as fast! This class will test your knowledge on the youth and adult alcohol and drug culture. Whether in grade school, high school, or college, the culture is frequently changing. It can be difficult for those who are attempting to prevent, enforce, educate, supervise, and treat – if we don't know what we are up against. During the past couple of years, new clothing, drugs, concentrates, alcoholic drinks, technology, concealment methods and clothing lines have arrived in our local retail stores. With these changes have come new problems.

Knowledge is power, and if we don't know the local and regional establishments that are selling these items, or what a certain logo "truly" stands for, we are only making it that more difficult to stop! This class will provide over 100 visual aids, along with photos, videos and detailed descriptions of the different items and trends. You will be provided with tools and handouts to prevent, create policies against, and enforce the many different items in your community.

The Class is limited to the first 75 registrations.

Who Should Attend: Educators, Law Enforcement, SRO's, Coalition Members, Prevention Personnel, Counselors, Treatment Providers, Medical Personnel, Probation Officers, State Employees and anyone who is passionate against the fight against drugs!
