

Advanced Reconstruction and Major Scene Logistics

50 hours, five consecutive Days

October 31-Nov 4, 2016

Presented by National Crime Investigation and Training at the

Idaho State Police

700 So. Stratford Drive, Meridian Idaho, 83642

This course is intended for senior patrol, detectives and all investigators who may respond to complex crime scenes including those with high mortality or public scrutiny. The course is for those who may be involved in the investigation of the expansive crime scene covering multiple jurisdictions as well as the complex crime scene involving multiple fatalities. In addition, the class focuses on techniques relevant to the investigation of the serial criminal and continuing investigation of the "old and cold" homicide and the exhumation of illicit burials. This 50 hour, five day course provides the student numerous opportunities to demonstrate their comprehension of the material as well as to develop practical skills applicable to their on-duty assignments. The course hours listed below are adhered to. The registration fee for this 50 hour class is $600.00.

Course Outline:

DAY 1 (0800- 1800)

- Review the basics of scene processing and pathways to evidence association
- Critical evidence and scene documentation: the impact of omissions and errors
- Managing the simple scene: recognizing the serial crime event
- Techniques for showing spatial, time, and geographic relationships,
- How reconstruction can lead to additional evidence in the scene and better interviews.

DAY 2 (0730 – 1830)

- Techniques for communication and organization within complex investigations
- Applying critical incident management and incident command system to expansive crime scenes – (table-top preparation for drill on day 3)
- Managing the major scene: coordinating evidence collection and communications
- How to obtain investigative consistency with diverse resources and personnel
- The logistics of a major multiple site scene... where to begin

DAY 3 (0730 – 1900)

- The entire day will be devoted to the processing of a major multiple site crime scene scenarios. The participants will perform full scene processing, collection, interpretation, and organization of a crime containing 10 or more bodies and hundreds of items of evidence spread over numerous locations.

DAY 4 (0730- 1830)

- The investigation of the serial crime... special problems and solutions
- Dealing with the unsolved case... finding the hidden clues
- Integrating the scene processing and results with an interview or interrogation

DAY 5 (0730 – 1700)

- Specialized topics
- An exhumation exercise...how to find them and how to collect them.
- Bloodstain patterns in unusual case scenarios
- Bone identification
- Advanced firearms evidence topics
- Presentation of homework exercise (Final exam)

STUDENT SHOULD BRING-

The student should bring a basic crime scene kit and packaging suitable for a very large multiple death investigation. (Including equipment to document the scene, perform selective evidence processing (such as fingerprinting and biological sampling), and packaging materials (bags and small containers), Departments sending more than one student may send one kit suitable for all their student use. If the student brings a departmental camera (and detachable flash) suitable for crime scene use, they will have opportunity to use it and be assisted in the cameras operation by the instructors.

This course involves classroom time and outdoor processing of a major crime with multiple deaths, injuries, weapons, an expansive crime scene and will occur “rain or shine”. Be prepared for the weather.

Registration:

To register, contact Joe Rynearson at rynearsj@yahoo.com or at (916) 849-0587. It is suggested that departments coordinate their list of students and when possible, provide their list to the instructor.

To confirm attendance and reserve a place in the course please provide:

- 1) Applicant agency,
- 2) Applicant name, title and contact information (phone/email).
- 3) Name and contact information of Supervisor authorizing attendance for the applicant

Registration Fees:

The registration fees for this intense 50 hour course is $600 and should be brought with the student on the first day of class. Application for POST approval has been made. Registration fee checks should be made payable to “National Crime Investigation and Training”. Your accounting section should contact www.ncit.com or rynearsj@yahoo.com for federal tax information needed for registration payment.

For additional information:

Contact Vickie Gooch of the Idaho State Police at (208) 573-4235 or the staff at National Crime Investigation and Training (916) 849-0587 or check the web site www.ncit.com.

If necessary to cancel.

Please contact Ventura Vickie Gooch at least two weeks in advance of the course. This two week courtesy will allow us to contact others to take a vacated position in the class.

Accommodations: Students and are responsible for their motel reservations. No hotel has been selected as “preferred” for this offering. Several hotels/motels are within easy driving distance to the training location.

NOTE:

If your agency desires the class to be brought to your training environment, contact us at (916) 849-0587 or through our web site at www.ncit.com.

Aug 06, 2016